

Symposium Discussant

Firstly, thank you for agreeing to be a discussant in an ECER symposium. The discussant plays an important role in a symposium as he/she offers a critique of the symposium as a whole and raises questions that help to promote discussion and reflection.

The Chair and Discussant for a Symposium are usually nominated by the organizers of the symposium and should therefore know the basic outline and intention of the symposium.

If for any reason the symposium organizers did not provide you with the abstracts of the papers given within the symposium, you will be able to download them from the ECER Online Programme at <http://www.eera-ecer.de/ecer-programmes/search-programmes/>
